Even through these economically challenging times, we have kept the cost for a CBL subscription reasonable, while working hard to improve the quality of the product. Our cost will remain the same as the last five subscription years. The fee is $500 per teacher using the CBL program.

Update on what we will be offering for the 2012-2013 school year:

• You will notice a new look for our CBL website, which we will be unveiling in July 2012.
• Our website will include links for subscribers and visitors, open source material, and other resources.
• Subscribers will have access to our traditional CBL cycle reading program.
• Independent Study lesson plans will be available for selected books within the cycle.
• We are launching our CBL Leadership program that will be split into American Studies and Global Studies and tied to ELA novels. As we move towards the Common Core State Standards, all of these books will have been converted to meet these standards.
• Open Source material will include lesson plans for Biology, Earth and Human Sciences, and Social Studies.

I am attaching a Memorandum Of Understanding (MOU) for your review. If an MOU is on file with us, a username and password will be issued for the 2012-2013 school year beginning the first week of August 2012. You can fax your MOU to (408) 554-2373 (attention: Kim McCauley). Or, mail it to:
